The Journal is included in DOAJ

The Sustainable Development and Engineering Economics Journal is included in the [redacted] database.

DOAJ is an international multidisciplinary catalog of open access journals and contains, in addition to the names of the scientific journals themselves, also metadata of articles and links to the original source. Scientific journals that adhere to the general principles of the quality of scientific publications are included in the DOAJ after a thorough expert evaluation. Thus, DOAJ promotes the dissemination, use and popularization of the international Open Access Journals movement ("Open Access Journals").
